ABSTRACT

Designed to acquaint persons conducting library research in Chicano Studies with the numerous reference materials found in the University Library at the University of California-Santa Barbara, the manual provides information on the Coleccion Tloque Nahuaque, relevant subject headings, and a useful search strategy. The Coleccion Tloque Nahuaque, which serves as a focal point for information services relating to the Chicano/Mexicano experience in the United States, is briefly discussed in terms of its resources, staff, reserve reading service, circulation policy, publications, computer search services, exhibits, tours, and hours of service. An overview of the following departmental resources is provided: resources in education, government documents, Department of Special Collections, Map and Imagery Laboratory, Arts Library, and Curriculum Laboratory. Sixty-nine subject headings and 26 Library of Congress call-numbers relevant to Chicano Studies are listed. The five steps considered necessary in forming a useful search strategy are briefly reviewed: finding an overview for the general subject, reviewing available bibliographies for the field, finding books for the topic, finding materials through indexes and abstracts, and locating useful directories. The manual concludes with a list of 99 selected reference materials identified as standard items for reference work on the Chicano and a key word and subject index. (NQA)

PARA EL MEJORAMIENTO DEL PUEBLO

The Colección Tloque Nahuaque draws together the specialized resources of the University Library in one place for study and research on the historical and contemporary Chicano experience. Tloque Nahuaque, Lord of the Close and the Near, in his aspect as Quetzalcoatl, patron of learning and the arts is recalled in motif and symbol. It is in the calmecac (House of Knowledge) and amoxcalli (House of Books) that the skills of in tlilli, in tlapalli (the red, the black), the ancient Mexican metaphor for writing and knowledge are taught, practiced and conserved. The figures are adapted from the Codex Mendoza, a 16th century document describing Aztec society.

PREFACE

As you prepare to carry out your research in Chicano Studies, it is hoped that you will find this guide helpful as you attempt to locate and use appropriate library materials which you will need.

Locating information on Chicano topics will involve consulting some of the numerous and diverse sources of information in the University Library.

While the Coleccion Tloque Nahuaque (Chicano Studies Library Collection) is a natural focal point for such research, given its extensive coverage in this field, it should not be overlooked that much useful information can also be found throughout the main library.

This manual will acquaint you with a number of pertinent reference materials, and will help you to form a useful search strategy. It will also introduce you to the most relevant subject headings to aid you in looking up the information you will need.

Various individuals from different libraries reviewed the text and contributed valuable suggestions, references, and other useful information. Among these were Richard Chabran, UCLA; Carol Beth Gibbens, UCSB; David Guttman, UCSB; Dennis Hamilton, UCSB, and Roberto G. Trujillo, Stanford University. Very fine assistance was provided by Raquel Quiroz Gonzalez, who has been invaluable in the production of this, and many other publications generated by the Coleccion Tloque Nahuaque over the years.

GUIDE TO LIBRARY RESEARCH IN CHICANO STUDIES was produced on computer by using CMS (Conversational Monitor System), an interactive operating system which runs on the IBM 4341 mainframe computer at UCSB. Textual formatting was accomplished by using the SCRIPT formatting system, developed by the Department of Computer Services at the University of Waterloo, Ontario. The document was printed in XEROX 1200 type style, using a XEROX 8700 laser printer.

Chapter 1

COLECCION TLOQUE NAHUAQUE

The University Library Chicano Studies Collection is located on the second floor of the South Wing. Established as part of the University Library in 1971, the Coleccion Tloque Nahuaque serves as a focal point for information services relating to the Chicano/Mexicano experience in the United States.

As a collection development and reference service unit, the Coleccion specializes in the multidisciplinary area studies that make up the field of Chicano studies. Here you will find information on the historical and contemporary Chicano experience, including subject areas such as bilingual education, U.S. - Mexico border studies, and to a more limited extent, information on Mexico. In this latter case, materials from Mexico are occasionally acquired, with emphasis on literature and history, as it relates to the heritage of Chicanos. An extensive collection on Mexico is housed in the open stacks of the main library. The Coleccion is also a popular study area. Available study space, which is shared with the adjoining Black Studies Unit, seats 65 students.

RESOURCES

The Coleccion is one of the largest Chicano collections in the U.S. housing over 7,000 volumes and annually adding about 500 new titles in Chicano Studies.

The Coleccion also has several hundred current and retrospective serials, including journals and newspapers in hardcopy as well as in microform. These provide a great source of information on issues, events, and concerns relating to Chicanos. The Coleccion, therefore, has all major Chicano Studies publications and serials. The unit also maintains and adds to its files of pamphlets, periodical articles, newspaper clippings, book reviews, and posters. Article/newsclipping files include numerous published works on Chicano literary criticism, latino mental health, education, and sociology.

Particular subject strengths within the Coleccion are history, literature, bilingual education, and bibliography. A variety of unusual collections have also been acquired, including microfilm editions of New Mexican archival collections. It should be pointed out that locating information in the Coleccion is no problem, since virtually all of the library materials in this Unit are indexed in author, title, and subject catalogs located within the Coleccion itself.

STAFF

Reference and research assistance to students, faculty, scholars, and community users requires the availability of helpful and knowledgeable staff. In this respect, library users can count on a full-time Chicano Studies Librarian, and a Senior Library Assistant, both are bilingual and are ready to assist. Coleccion reference assistance is available weekdays, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

RESERVE READING SERVICE

Assigned readings, largely in Chicano Studies and Bilingual Education, are available in the Coleccion. Reserve readings are circulated for use within a two-hour period inside the Unit.

CIRCULATION POLICY

Since the Coleccion is basically a reference collection, materials do not circulate. This is due to the fact that many of these materials are available nowhere else, and if lost, cannot be replaced. The Coleccion often has the only copy in a geographic area ranging from Los Angeles to Berkeley. Therefore, this policy makes it possible for many people to have access to the collection during all hours that the Coleccion is open. Duplicate copies are obtained for the main stacks when heavy use is expected, or when greater accessibility may be needed.

PUBLICATIONS

The Coleccion has been associated with a variety of bibliographic and indexing projects. Its biannual acquisitions publication, CHICANOS: A CHECKLIST OF CURRENT MATERIALS is a selected list of new books added to the Coleccion, reflecting the multidisciplinary nature of Chicano Studies. Another related CHECKLIST publication is a SPECIAL ISSUE ON CHICANO STUDIES SERIALS, which is generally published every five years. For readers interested in a better understanding of a very intriguing and not very well understood aspect of the Mexicano/Chicano experience, the Day of the Dead, the Coleccion has collaborated with the Center for Chicano Studies in the publishing of VIA DE LOS MUERTOS: AN ILLUSTRATED ESSAY AND BIBLIOGRAPHY.

Collaborative publications involving the Coleccion have included the CHICANO THESAURUS FOR INDEXING CHICANO MATERIALS, MEXICAN SOLDADERAS AND WORKERS DURING THE REVOLUTION: AN EXHIBITION CATALOG, and A DECADE OF CHICANO LITERATURE(1970-1979)CRITICAL ESSAYS AND BIBLIOGRAPHY. Other on-going publications involving the participation of the Coleccion include the CHICANO PERIODICAL INDEX.

COMPUTER SEARCHING IN CHICANO STUDIES

Computerized literature searching is available at the University Library, providing for sophisticated subject searches in a variety of fields, including Chicano Studies and Bilingual Education. A computer search may save time and effort and could possibly retrieve items not readily located manually. In most cases, a computer search leads to a list of journal articles or other publications on a specified subject. Most of the computer files correspond to traditional printed indexes.

The cost for a computer search is passed on to the requester, and it depends on the subject, time at the terminal, and the amount of printed citations. Typical searches usually cost between $10 and $35.

The Coleccion Librarian is only one of a number of Reference librarians trained in computer searching, and may be contacted for an appointment. This service is available to members of the University of California community. For more information you may call:

Coleccion Tloque Nahuaque (961-2756)

General Reference Desk (961-2478)

EXHIBITS

Thematic library exhibits are periodically displayed throughout the year. Several recent major exhibits have included "Chicano Popular Arts and Literature," "Homenaje A Luis Leal: An Exhibition Honoring His Contributions to Mexican and Chicano Literature," and "Decade of Chicano Literature, 1970-1979."

TOURS

Any group of five or more may request in advance a group tour of the Coleccion and general library. Individual and group orientations to the Coleccion are conducted throughout the year.

HOURS OF SERVICE

For the convenience of users, the Unit is open 73 hours per week, from Fall to Spring, according to the following schedule:

Monday-Thursday 8 a.m.- 10 p.m.

Friday 8 a.m. - 5 p.m.

Saturday 10 a.m. - 6 p.m.

Summer and Recess Schedule:

Monday-Friday 8 a.m. - 5 p.m.

DEPARTMENTAL RESOURCES

RESOURCES IN EDUCATION

Among the questions asked at the Coleccion is: "Where can I find current articles on bilingual- bicultural education?" While there is no separate 'department' for education-related materials in the library, numerous resources are located within the Reference Department on the second floor. You will find ERIC (Educational Resources Information Center) to be one of the most useful sources of information about materials relevant to education. The ERIC system provides access to selected education reports, bibliographies, journal articles, books and monographs.

The two major indexes to ERIC materials are RESOURCES IN EDUCATION (RIE) and the CURRENT INDEX TO JOURNALS IN EDUCATION (CIJE). Both are shelved on the index tables in the South Wing of the second floor. Most of the reports listed may be found in the Educational Resources Information Center (ERIC) microfiche collection housed in the microform room of the Library (inquire at Reference desk). To determine the best subject heading to use in researching your topic, use the THESAURUS OF ERIC DESCRIPTORS shelved next to the index. Major subject terms relating to Chicanos used here will be Mexican Americans, Mexican American Literature, Mexican American History, Mexican American Education, and Hispanic American Culture--Mexican Americans.

The EDUCATION INDEX is another helpful source. In this index you will use the terms Mexican American, Mexicans in the United States, Spanish speaking Students, Bilingual Education, or Children of Migrant Laborers.

GOVERNMENT DOCUMENTS

The Government Publications Department, located on the 1st floor South Wing of the Library, is a collection of federal, state, local and international governmental publications.

These government publications cover a wide variety of subjects. Many of the materials in the Government Publications Department are of interest to students in Chicano Studies.

Particularly useful for finding government documents is the MONTHLY CATALOG OF U.S. GOVERNMENT PUBLICATIONS, which is essentially a comprehensive bibliography of publications issued by all branches of the federal government.

Among the government agencies specializing in areas relating to Chicanos have been:

California. Mexican Fact-Finding Committee
U.S. Commission on Civil Rights
U.S. Presidents Commission on Migratory Labor
U.S. Interagency Committee on Mexican American Affairs
U.S. Equal Employment Opportunity Commission
U.S. Office of Economic Opportunity
U.S. Federal Interagency Committee on Migrant Labor

To locate the publications of the above listed agencies as well as others, ask for assistance from librarians on duty at the Reference Desk in the Government Publications Department.

THE DEPARTMENT OF SPECIAL COLLECTIONS

Located on the third floor of the Main Library, this department houses non-circulating specialized materials such as rare books, first editions, manuscripts, local history, oral history, and University archives. Many of the materials from its Wyles Collection on westward expansion include important historical coverage of the American Southwest following the Treaty of Guadalupe Hidalgo.

Other materials which are relevant to Chicano Studies are masters theses and doctoral dissertations completed at UCSB, the archives for the UCSB Department of Chicano Studies, and the Center for Chicano Studies Research.

MAP AND IMAGERY LABORATORY

The map collection is world-wide in scope and exceeds 250,000 sheet maps and charts. The Imagery Collection contains about 200,000 images, including aerial photography, NASA transparencies, satellite photographs, and scanned images. Materials include 2,000 general and subject atlases. The Map and Imagery Collections staff provides reference service to closed stack collections and should be consulted to identify and locate maps which are relevant to Mexican Americans.

ARTS LIBRARY

Located in a wing of the Music Building, art materials can be found in the first floor, with music materials located on the second floor. The music collection includes books, pamphlets, scores, disc. and tape recordings. Art materials include books, periodicals, and art exhibition catalogs. The Arts Library has separate card catalogs for art and music. To locate materials on Mexican Americans, Art and Music reference staff are available to assist you.

CURRICULUM LABORATORY

Located on the first floor of the North Wing, the Curriculum Lab includes elementary and secondary education textbooks, a collection of children's literature, and multi-media materials for use in instruction. Bilingual education classroom materials can be found here.

Chapter 3

SUBJECT HEADINGS

The key to finding library material on any topic is the proper use of subject headings. If you need information about people, places, ideas, or things, the subject catalog or a subject index will lead you to the sources.

Subject headings used for Chicano materials, however, will vary. For example, books about pachucos are listed under the subject heading Juvenile delinquents; braceros are listed under Agricultural laborers, Mexican; Chicanos are listed under Mexican Americans, Mexicans in the United States, or even Spanish Americans! Most of the material relating to Chicanos will be found under the subject heading Mexican Americans.

How to find help. When you have difficulty finding a heading you can turn to several sources:

1. Subject headings used in the UCSB Library and the Coleccion Tloque Nahuaque are taken from the large, red, two-volume LIBRARY OF CONGRESS SUBJECT HEADINGS AND ITS SUPPLEMENTS, kept on the Catalog Assistance Desk. These volumes list the headings, their cross-references, and explain how they are used.

2. The UCSB Library has published a brochure on the uses of the subject catalog. The brochure gives clear and concise information which is useful for all subjects. The brochure is free and available at the Information Desk.

> The staff of the Coleccion Tloque Nahuaque and librarians at the Reference Desk and Catalog Assistance Desk are prepared to help you find your material.

FORMING A SEARCH STRATEGY

For the person researching a Chicano Studies topic at UCSB the methods which will be used will actually vary with the subject in question, the purpose for the research, and its desired scope.

In many cases the best sources may be books and articles from periodicals. The latter may include scholarly journals as well as those of a more popular nature. Many such materials are located in the Coleccion Tloque Nahuaque. Other materials may include non-Chicano newspapers, such as the LOS ANGELES TIMES.

Alternately, one's search might lead into other directions, such as dissertations, theses, government documents, pamphlets, audio-visual materials, or other special library resources.

A search strategy begins with developing and refining a study topic. For the unitiated, much time and effort can be saved by determining at an early stage whether the topic is manageable. If the topic is so narrow that there is little material on it, then it is not manageable. At the other extreme, a topic might be too broad and all-encompassing, which may again make the topic unmanageable. It would be helpful to consult with the Chicano Studies Librarian for assistance in selecting a topic.

Once a topic has been defined, a comprehensive search method might be as follows:

Step 1 - Subject Overview

Find an overview for the general subject. Usually an encyclopedia for that subject is consulted to obtain background information. Look for a list of books or articles which may be listed in the bibliography at the end of the article. Also make note of any dictionaries which can define the terms related to your topic.

For example, if you were to choose the topic "Chicano interest groups and public policy," a good starting point would be to look up the term "Interest groups" in the index volume to the INTERNATIONAL ENCYCLOPEDIA OF THE SOCIAL SCIENCES (FIGURE 1).

You will also discover other related subject references, such as "Political participation" and "Pressure groups". While these articles do not relate specifically to Chicanos, the theoretical and conceptual base of the more general subject will be important to familiarize you with the wider topic from which you can extrapolate key concepts. Another helpful source would be the HARVARD ENCYCLOPEDIA OF AMERICAN ETHNIC GROUPS (figure 2).

In the field of education, a useful source would be the ENCYCLOPEDIA OF EDUCATIONAL RESEARCH. This can be found along with the other subject encyclopedias in the second floor reference collection of the library.

METHODS OF ESTIMATING THE SIZE OF GROUPS: see APPENDIX I

MEXICANS

In 1978 the Census Bureau estimated that 7.2 million people of Mexican descent were living in the United States. The number was undoubtedly substantially higher at the end of the decade, because of the high fertility of Mexican-American families and the heavy continuing emigration from Mexico. Many analysts consider that figure to be a significant undercount, while there is an unknown but undoubtedly large number of undocumented Mexican aliens in the United States.

About 90 percent of the Mexicans reside in the south-

Step 2 - Subject Bibliographies

Review the bibliographies available for that field. This will help you as you compile a list of books on your topic. One of the best, and most up-to-date is THE MEXICAN AMERICAN: A CRITICAL GUIDE TO RESEARCH AIDS, by Barbara and J. Cordell Robinson. Here you will find that subjects are divided into the various fields of study.

Following our sample topic of "Chicano interest groups," in the Robinson book is a chapter on "Social and Behavioral Sciences". Listed there, for example, you will find A SELECTED RESEARCH BIBLIOGRAPHY ON ASPECTS OF SOCIO-ECONOMIC and political life of Mexican Americans (Figure 3). Also listed is "Politics and the Chicano: On the Status of the Literature." Those would relate nicely to the sample topic.

Step 3 - Book Material

Find books for your topic. This calls for locating books on the subject using the card catalog. After selecting the appropriate subject headings, you will look up relevant books listed in the Main Subject Card Catalog. You will not want to miss non-Chicano related books on the general subject, as well as those which apply directly to Chicano Studies.

634. Sharma, Prakash C. A Selected Research Bibliography on Aspects of Socio-economic and Political Life of Mexican Americans. Monticello, IL: Council of Planning Librarians, 1974. (Exchange Bibliography, no. 695) 19p.

Studies on the social, economic and political life of Mexican Americans are listed in this concise bibliography. The 250 references to books, monographs, reports, articles, and periodicals cited were published during the 1930-1973 period. The majority of them relate directly to the Mexican American. Many of the items may be found in other more general bibliographies. This compilation indicates the growing interest, during the early 1970's in the unique problems and matters of life of Mexican Americans. Earlier exchange bibliographies presented only materials of overall interest to studies of minorities and ethnic groups or concentrated on specific problems of those groups.

For example, following the sample topic, and using the Subject Catalog, you will find an excellent historical case study "The Alianza Movement of New Mexico: the Interplay of Social Change and Public Commentary," which discusses one of "the most controversial of all organizations representing Spanish-speaking people in the U.S.," led by Reis Lopez Tijerina (Figure 4), although the above essay was the only chapter relating to Chicanos in a book titled MINORITIES AND POLITICS. This book was listed in the Subject Catalog using the heading "Minorities--Addresses and essays." (Figure 5).

The Main Card Catalog should be consulted to identify all cataloged materials found throughout the library, including circulating books and non-circulating reference materials. Since the Coleccion Tloque Nahuaque is the primary collection development point for Chicano area studies, attention is called to the existence of a specialized card catalog located therein, which is used to find non-circulating books and other materials on Chicanos housed in the Unit. Again, it is organized in author-title, subject, and shelf list sections.

Another major access tool is MELVYL the UC Online Union Catalog. Designed to be 'user friendly,' this is a computerized catalog of books located on all nine campuses of the University of California. While not a complete listing, additional titles are being added to the database on a daily basis. Reference librarians are available to assist you at any point in your search.

Step 4 - Indexes and Abstracts

Find materials through indexes and abstracts. Indexes and abstracts are reference books which are generally guides to articles in journals and magazines. Since these are particularly reliable for locating current information, they should never be overlooked. Indexes supplement the Card Catalog of the Library by making accessible large amounts of periodical literature, including information found in newspapers, theses, and dissertations. Indexes will usually give the author and title of the article, the title of the journal in which it appeared, the volume, issue number, the date of publication, and pagination (Figure 6). An abstracting service, such as SOCIOLOGICAL ABSTRACTS will also provide a summary of the contents of the publication.

To find information on Chicanos in "mainstream" indexes such as the SOCIAL SCIENCES INDEX, you will find that the indexing terms may vary between publications. Some examples of subject headings to use for the indexes are as follow:

Ethnic groups
Mexican Americans
Mexico, Mexican, Mexicans
Mexicans in the United States
Migrant labor
Minorities
Race problems

Other references to additional related subjects will be found using the above headings. Particular attention should be called to the CHICANO PERIODICAL INDEX, located in the Coleccion Tloque Nahuaque. This will be extremely useful for Chicano Studies since it is the only index which exclusively provides significant access to Chicano periodical literature.

Again reverting to the sample topic, "Chicano interest groups and public policy," several relevant subject terms would be "Political History and Conditions," and "Public Policy." Using the former term, for example, you would find the article "Mexican American Community Political Organization: the Key to Chicano Political Power," by Miguel David Tirado (Figure 7). Notice that each entry lists other descriptors (related subject terms) under which this, and other articles associated with the topic can be found.

Step 5 - Directories

Use directories. You may find it appropriate to your study to use available directories. These will help you to identify relevant organizations or individuals you might like to contact in order to get first-hand information. A good example would be the NATIONAL DIRECTORY OF CHICANO FACULTY AND RESEARCH (1974) or CHICANO SCHOLARS AND WRITERS: A BIO-BIBLIOGRAPHICAL DIRECTORY (1979).

You should be aware that as you use the sources listed above, many of the journal articles and books which are cited will likely have bibliographies of their own. You should review the books cited there and add them to your list as they relate to your topic. Thereafter, you can look them up in the Author-Title Card Catalog in the Library.

In review, a useful search strategy could be as follows:

1. Find an overview for the general subject
2. Review available bibliographies for the field
3. Find books for your topic
4. Find materials through indexes and abstracts
5. Locate useful directories

Chapter 6

SELECTED CHICANO REFERENCE SOURCES

The following list is a selection of reference materials identified as standard items for reference work on the Chicano. Except for some of the major bibliographies listed, only brief annotations have been provided as needed, since detailed descriptions can be found in the bibliographies cited below. This is a compilation of 349 monographs on the Chicano, dating from 1848 to 1976.. Annotations describing the titles provide essential information. Arranged in five broad categories, reference works include bibliographies, dictionaries, directories, guides, and indexes. Included is a directory of periodicals and a directory of publishers of Chicano materials.

Indexes and Abstracts

CHICANO PERIODICAL INDEXING PROJECT. A CUMULATIVE INDEX TO SELECTED PERIODICALS, 1979-1981. Boston: G. K. Hall, 1983. (Ref. Z 1361 M4 C474)

An important work which retrospectively indexes articles relevant to the study of the Chicano. Several editions are available, covering the period from 1967 to 1978, and 1979-1981, respectively. The second edition includes a helpful up-to-date directory of Chicano related periodicals, including journals, magazines, newsletters, newspapers, and student newspapers.

Comite de Mexico y Aztlan (COMEXAZ). NEWS MONITORING SERVICE. Oakland, Calif.: COMEXAZ, Nov.1972 - Dec.1980. (E 184 M5 C64)

A good retrospective source for photocopies of clippings on Mexican American events and Mexico. Seven major Southwestern newspapers are monitored through November, 1980. Includes an extensive monthly index which is cumulated annually.

HISPANIC AMERICAN PERIODICALS INDEX. Los Angeles: UCLA Latin American Center Publications, 1975. (Ref Z 1605 H49)

An annual subject and author index of articles, reviews, documents, and original literary works appearing in close to 250 journals which cover Latin America or Latin Americans in the U.S. Chicanos are also covered to a more limited extent. Nevertheless, the companion volume HAPI THESAURUS AND NAME AUTHORITY lists at least 10 subject terms used for indexing materials on the Mexican American.
